Value of Pineapple Juice.

An old pineapple grower tells strange stories about the effect of the juice of the fruit upon certain substances. The juice of the pine is supposed to do more for the larva than anything else in the world. Says the grower: "Drop a piece of leather into a glass of pineapple juice and see how quickly it will be eaten up."

Not a Good Trade.

According to the Manhattan Trade school the millinery trade is not a very good one for women, as there is a six month season that takes away the profits of the busy season. The trade school found difficulty in selling hats made by the apprentices, and now will merely train milliners' assistants.

A Real Friend.

Honest men esteem and value nothing so much in this world as a real friend. Such a one is as it were another self, to whom we impart our most secret thoughts, who partakes of our joy, and comforts us in our affliction; add to this, that his company is an everlasting pleasure to us.—Pitney.

Touch.

I am sure that if a fairy had no choice between the sense of sight and that of touch I would not part with the warm, endearing contact of human hands or the warmth of firm, the nobility and fullness that press into my palms.—Helen Keller, in Century Magazine.

Office Building Map.

One of New York's big buildings not only presents the usual directory of tenants' names, but it also shows on the main floor a diagram of each floor so that visitors, instead of wandering around bewildered in the maze of corridors, can readily locate the particular room they are looking for.

Plain Thief Becoming Rare.

A Philadelphia woman stole to keep her daughter from working and a New York woman to keep her son in school. The plain, old-fashioned person who is impelled to steal by reason of being a thief would be deemed vulgar by the modern larcenist.

A Homely Remedy.

A somewhat old-time but successful remedy for swollen feet is to bathe them in water in which wood ashes have been boiled. The water must be cooled and strained before the feet are placed in it.

What It Really Is.

An American firm is selling in England what it calls "Finest Raspberry Jam." The label on each jar bears this statement: "This jam is made of glucose with artificial seeds and colored with harmless aniline dyes."

Cultivate Repose.

There is a lot of truth in the expression: "Power through repose" and a book written concerning it. When your nerves are relaxed and your mind at ease you have infinitely more grasp on the situation.

Very Significant.

A recent church notice in Manchester, England, read: "A potato pie supper will be held on Saturday evening. Subject for Sunday evening: 'A night of agony.'"

Position That Strains the Eye.

If you have regard for the strength of your eyes never sit looking at an object with the head turned. The strain of looking out of the side of the eye eventually affects the nerve.

Woman's Eloquence.

Woman is a wonderful creature. When she wants to express her thoughts with startling eloquence she says nothing at all.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Hint to the Fastidious.

Since milk bottles are invariably handled by the top fastidious women will wash off the bottle before removing the paper cap.

Still to Let.

Caretaker (to ladies who wish to see over the house)—One minute, please, ladies, while I drive the rain back.

Truths and Principles.

Truths and principles are divine; they govern the world; to suffer for them is the greatest glory of man.—Cardinal Manning.

Principle and Interest.

The man who has to borrow generally takes a good deal of interest in the man of principle.

Watches the Wind.

A politician always wants what the people want when he finds out they are going to have it.

Human Bones Stronger Than Steel. Weight for weight, the bones in your body are many times stronger than steel.

Some People.

Some people would never get mentioned at all if they were not talked about behind their backs.

Almost Deserved His Life.

Richard Johnson, hanged at Shrewsbury, England, on October 3, 1856, obtained a promise from an under sheriff to place him in the coffin without changing his clothes. After hanging half an hour he still showed signs of life, and on examination it was found he had wrapped cords about his body connected with hooks at the neck, which prevented the rope from doing its work. The apparatus was removed and the man hanged effectively.

Public Speaking.

Eloquence is the child of knowledge. When a mind is full, like a wholesome river, it is also clear. Confusion and obscurity are much oftener the results of ignorance than of inefficiency. Few are the men who can not express their meaning when the occasion demands the energy; as the lowest will defend their lives with eagerness, and sometimes even with eloquence.—Lord Beaconsfield.

Sore Throat.

Those subject to sore throat will find the following preparation simple, cheap and highly efficacious when used in the early stages. Pour a pint of boiling water on 30 leaves of the common sage and let the infusion stand for an hour; add vinegar sufficient to make it pleasantly acid, and honey to taste. The mixture should be used as a gargle twice a day. There is no danger if some of it is swallowed.

City Not Typical of America.

A cosmopolitan citizen says that the foreigners, artists, philanthropists, editors, scientists and sociologists who go to New York city to study America are likely to be led into all sorts of errors if they confine their studies and observations to the metropolis, for New York city is less typical of America than any other part of the country.

Inn 200 Years in One Family.

It was stated at the Wareham petty sessions, on the occasion of the transfer of the license of the King's Arms from the late Miss Sarah Hoare to her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Grant, that the inn had been kept by members of the same family for 200 years.—London Globe.

The Philosopher of Folly.

"The wicked stand in slippery places," quoted that driving old dub, the Philosopher of Folly. "It's the good people who aren't wise to the game who fall when they strike such spots."

Has No Cause for Dejection.

The good man ought to be a thoroughly bright and happy man.—Brooks.

Opportunity Always with Us.

Higher things remain to be done than have yet been accomplished. God and his universe still wait upon each individual soul, offering opportunity.—Bishop Spalding.

Sporting Item.

From a report of a divorcee's wedding as written by the husband reporter: "—and as the dominie pronounced the words, the bride was advanced to second."

All Pointing to Hope.

Who shall denigrate while the fields of the earth are sown with flowers and the fields of heaven blossom with stars?—H. W. Kable.

Be a Booster.

Be a booster. The knacker is usually the man who waits for something to turn up or tries to get something for nothing.—Salt Lake Tribune.

Concerning Hores and Frumps.

With women the hores are the over-educated and the frumps are the over-dressed. Too much of a good thing is always bad.

Graphic Description.

Little Eddie (who has been with his father to the barber's)—Oh, 'e then the man squirted some catnip on papa's hair 'n' made charlotte roses.

Advice.

"What's the best way to save money?" asked the thrifty youth. "Quit reading the racing news and the market quotations."

Literature.

Literature is the stuff authors produce during the odd moments when they are not busy writing for a living.

Adapted for Armed Cruisers. Many of the largest mercantile steamers can be converted into armed cruisers in 20 hours.

Millions Invested in Tramways. There is $320,000,000 invested in England's tramways. The mileage is 2,394.

Will Always Prove Unworthy. Trust not him that hath once broken faith.—Shakespeare.

Requires No Prescription. Cheerfulness is a medicine that never injures anybody.

Woe Caused by the Babblers. Fire and sword are but slow engines of destruction in comparison with the babbler.—Steele.

The Thing That Matters Most. After all, the thing that matters most, both for happiness and for duty, is that we should habitually live with wise thoughts and right feelings.—John Morley.

Daily Thought.

"Exercise the mind with contemplation and the body with action and so preserve the health of both."—Confucius.

The Trusty Horse.

"The horse must go." Sure; quite often he must go out and haul the automobile out of the mud.
